

Beliefs and Values

- We believe that our member-owners expectations and return on investment are maximized by being market driven and by engaging all employees in business improvement activities.
- We believe that honesty, integrity and respect in our relationships with our customers, member-owners, employees and vendors is of the highest importance and will not be compromised.
- We believe that most employees want to do the right things, want to contribute, want to do quality work, want to have a positive impact and will if the system enables them to do so.
- We believe that every employee has unique skills, knowledge and experience that make them important to Foremost Farms.
- We believe that respectfully, constructively and creatively challenging the status quo is fundamental to our future success.
- Customer satisfaction, efficient operations and profitability are the priority and focus of all employees, rather than what might be optimal for an individual function or operation.
- We believe in acting in a responsible and ethical manner in our relations with our communities and the general public.
